As a reminder, Person-Centered Thinking Skills is a 2-hour interactive virtual training that will provide an overview of core person-centered skills for people who provide, oversee, receive, or support people who receive person-centered supports and services. At the end of the training, participants will be able to:

- Describe how Person-Centered Thinking skills are used in planning and supporting people
- List three Person-Centered Thinking skills
- Describe the benefits of One-Page Descriptions and how to use them
- Explain the balance between what is important to a person and what is important for a person
- Identify available resources for further learning

This training topic is ideal for both those who are new to person-centered planning and those who are experienced in person-centered planning and want to refresh their skills.

More Training Topics Coming Soon!

In addition to Person-Centered Thinking Skills, we'll be rolling out several more training topics over the coming months. Please keep an eye out for more announcements on the following training topics:
